BIG VOTE IN ALL BOROUGHES WITH NO TROUBLE AT POLLS

Balloting Rushed in Record Time, and Full Registration Accounted for in Many Districts Before 5 O'Clock.

A remarkably heavy vote made notable the election that closed at 5 o'clock this afternoon. In some sections of the city no ballots were cast after 4 o'clock, the registered vote being all in.

Another notable feature was the order and decorum that marked the day. There were few arrests and all but a very few of those arrested were turned out by the courts. Judges, District-Attorneys, Magistrates and police officers on duty throughout the city, in anticipation of emergencies connected with illegal voting, had nothing to do.

Both Tammany Hall and Fusion Headquarters claimed the victory at the close of the polls. Tammany insisted that the big vote showed an endorsement of the organization while the Fusionists set up that the condition was indicative of a revolt.

Mayor Gaynor did not vote until 4:40 o'clock this afternoon at No. 581 Union street, Brooklyn. The Mayor was said to have been at St. James, L. I.

The fine weather and the heavy rain last night were largely responsible for the big vote cast. Hundreds of citizens who had planned to go to the country early in the day for golf or motoring changed their minds when they heard the roads were swampy. Thousands who had figured on spending a rainy day at home were drawn to the polls by the bright sunshine and the balmy air.

Brooklyn, the Bronx, Richmond and Queens trailed along with Manhattan in casting a big vote. The marking of ballots proceeded rapidly. Voters who scratched their tickets had little difficulty, due to the small number of candidates.

Samuel G. Smith was a type of this class of voter. He lives at No. 2231 Fifth avenue, and registered in the same registration place under his right name, on the first and last registration day. He was stationed in Harlem Court after he had explained. There were scores of similar cases. Nearly all the alleged cases of illegal registration were found to be based on mistakes of registration clerks or careless work on the part of investigators.

LOOSE INVESTIGATION BEHIND INDICTMENTS FOR FRAUD.

Justices Rosinsky and Crain in the Court of General Sessions, Manhattan, heard various election cases in which offenses had been charged. Fifty-one indictments had been returned by the Grand Jury, and the few arrangements showed that in many cases the indictments had been brought upon extremely loose investigation.

But the District-Attorney's office and the political parties took no chances. District-Attorney Whitman, with Assistants Nott, Stryker and Deming, presented the charges. George Gordon Battle, Edward Carpel and Augustine Derby announced that they represented the Legal Committee of Tammany Hall, and John W. Hart appeared for the Republican County Committee. There was no representation of the Attorney-General.

Connie Sledge, a dining-car waiter, was charged with attempting to bribe a voter in the Third Election District of the Twenty-ninth Assembly District, from No. 342 West Fifty-ninth street. He insisted that he had moved to No. 333 West Fifty-ninth street and was entitled to vote. The judges sent for witnesses to show the facts.

John J. Durkin was arrested for offering a vote from No. 412 West Forty-ninth street in the Fifteenth Election District of the Eleventh Assembly District. He swore that he was a qualified voter from No. 48 West Forty-ninth street, and that the error of number was that of the election inspector. He was also told to wait for witnesses as to his real residence.

When Durkin's witnesses arrived they substantiated his claims and the court dismissed the charge against him. George Halliday, who described himself as an actor out of work, was arrested for offering to vote in the ninth election district of the Third Assembly District as a resident of No. 125 Bowery. He said he had lived at the lodging.

REPUBLICANS WIN BAY STATE, EARLY FIGURES INDICATE

Boston Reduces Foss's Lead of Last Year by More Than 6,000.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—The election of Frothingham (Rep.) over Foss (Dem.) is conceded by all the Boston newspapers.

Foss carried the City of Boston by a plurality of 31,302 over Frothingham, the latter cutting Foss's plurality over Draper last year by 6,555. The total vote of the city for Governor was: Foss (Dem.), 49,961; Frothingham (Rep.), 28,659.

With a Foss plurality of 21,302 in Boston, the Democratic leaders expressed the belief at 5 P. M. that Frothingham would be unable to wipe out this lead. The Republican leaders at the same hour were still claiming a victory for Frothingham by a narrow margin.

Returns from 346 out of 1,000 voting districts, including Boston, gave for Governor: Foss (Dem.), 69,296; Frothingham (Rep.), 51,728. Last year's vote: Foss, 74,578; Draper (Rep.), 53,281. For Lieutenant-Governor: Lane (Rep.), 51,161; Walsh (Dem.), 66,214. Same districts last year gave: Frothingham (Rep.), 54,083; Cassidy (Dem.), 65,321.

Frothingham carried the town of Brookline by 1,218. Draper had a plurality of 929 last year. Eastern gives Foss 495; Frothingham, 384. Last year: Foss, 498; Draper, 342. East Middlesex: Foss, 221; Frothingham, 213. Last year: Foss 240; Draper, 235. Southbridge: Foss 1,129; Frothingham, 633. Last year: Foss 1,052; Draper, 548.

DEMOCRATS WIN CLEVELAND

Political heir of Tom L. Johnson carries Ohio City.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 7.—Based on their estimate on returns from twenty-one precincts, Democratic leaders are claiming the election as Mayor of Newton D. Baker, political heir of the late Tom L. Johnson, by from 29,000 to 35,000. Republican leaders concede the defeat of Frank C. Hogan.

Indications are that not a Republican will be elected on the city ticket and that only five Republicans will be elected to the Council.

FOWLER LEADS IN CITY; JUDICIAL TICKET IS LAST

Result in Judiciary Ticket in Brooklyn in Doubt, Willett Probably Beaten—Clarke and Cropsey in Close Race—Democrats Lose Assemblymen Up-State But will Probably Hold Legislature.

Tammany won to-day's election by a plurality estimated at late returns of about 10,000 for the Judicial ticket and about 10,000 for Sheriff. Surrogate Fowler ran ahead of his ticket and his plurality may reach 20,000. This difference represents the Republican votes cast for Mr. Fowler in retaliation for the action of the Fusionists in turning him down.

The early returns indicated a Tammany landslide. Statisticians at the Wigwam figured the plurality at 50,000 or more and the vote appeared to bear out the estimate. But when the judges of election began to count the columns in the ballot other than those under the star and the Republican emblem, the apparent Democratic plurality began to shrink.

With two-thirds of the count finished the estimate of about 20,000 plurality for the Democratic ticket outside the Surrogate was reached. Tammany Hall put the plurality at 20,000 to 24,000 on the ground that the big slump had come from populous Republican district returns in Manhattan, while Democratic outlying districts in the Bronx remained to be heard from. The Fusionists refused to concede a victory to Tammany. They were banking, they said, on the very outlying districts that Tammany looked toward for gains.

TAMMANY MAY HOLD ASSEMBLY.

The returns indicate that Murphy may have still hold of the Assembly. It will be impossible to get any definite information on this point before to-morrow. Tammany claims to have sustained no losses of importance in Manhattan in Assemblymen.

Assembly returns from up State are confusing. Secretary Tom Smith of Tammany Hall had no sooner read a telegram from Troy announcing the election of a Democratic Mayor and the gain of two Democratic Assemblymen, when a telegram came from Buffalo telling of the loss of three Assemblymen in Erie. No returns were available up to a late hour on the Assembly fight in Brooklyn. Tammany claimed all the Democratic Assemblymen nominated in Manhattan.

The four Tammany candidates for the Supreme Court ran well together. Late returns showed a difference of not more than 2,000 between the leader and the tailender. Ottinger, somewhat to the surprise of the Fusion managers, made an excellent showing.

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT CLOSE.

The latest returns from the second Judiciary ticket in the Second District show that the result will be very close. The Fusion candidates for Supreme Court Justice carried Kings County, but varying returns from Queens and Richmond cut down the Kings plurality. No returns had been received up to a late hour from Nassau and Suffolk Counties, both of which are in the Second District.

Late tonight John F. Clarke and James C. Cropsey were running neck and neck in the count for District-Attorney. The early returns indicated Clarke's election. Cropsey showed strong gains for about an hour and then Clarke began to climb again. The Democratic organization of Kings and Queens claimed the election of their tickets and a counter claim was made by the Fusionists.

Willett ran away behind his ticket in all parts of the district from which returns were received. There appears to be little doubt that Willett is beaten no matter how his colleagues on the ticket may fare. Late returns from the Municipal Judgeship fight in the Bronx showed William Morris, Tammany, in the lead. Tammany holds the Board of Aldermen unless there are unforeseen reversals in Brooklyn. The Wigwam claims a gain of two Aldermen in Manhattan.

Accountants, figuring on previous elections early estimated the Tammany plurality at from 55,000 to 60,000. Boss Murphy, at Tammany Hall, while he refused to dispute the figures, looked incredulous and advised that more returns be digested before claiming such an overwhelming victory.

RETURNS SLOWER THAN IN YEARS.

The first returns were slower than for any election in years. This condition was contrary to expectations, as the ticket was not complicated. John J. McGovern of Brooklyn, the only voter in New York who has an election district all to himself at a cost to the city of $100 was beaten in the returns by Prospect Park in Brooklyn and Central Park in Manhattan. The first news of the way the election was going came from Prospect Park with one vote for all the Democratic candidates.

Then came Central Park, with two votes for each Democratic candidate in New York County. Mr. McGovern arrived next. He is the sole voter in the Forty-second Election District of the Sixteenth Assembly District, and he went Democratic unanimously.

It was 6 o'clock before the general returns began to reach Police Headquarters. They came in scattered shape, and the expert accountants who handle the figures were puzzled as to the way to assemble them. The slowness in returns indicated that there had been a lot of scratching on both sides.

FIRST RETURNS IN KINGS DISPIRITING.

The Democratic leaders of Kings got a jolt in the early returns when they heard from the First Election District and the Fourth Election District of the Second Assembly District, a Democratic stronghold. These returns showed Democratic losses throughout the ticket and corresponding Republican gains.

Fifty election districts out of 912 in Manhattan and the Bronx were bunched in the first returns given out at Headquarters. These districts gave Scott, with the indorsement of both parties, 795 votes; Cobalan, 692 votes; Pendleton, 678; Hotchkiss, 688; Ottinger, 116; Shearn, 123, and Baldwin 126.

Tammany Hall was mightily encouraged at 6:30 o'clock, when Secretary Tom Smith, who used to live on the lower west side, assembled the returns from six election districts of the Seventh Assembly District, which takes in the Chelsea neighborhood and is strongly Republican. Partial returns from these districts showed immense Democratic gains. Smith assured Leader Murphy that of the Seventh could be taken as a criterion there was no doubt of a substantial victory.

REPUBLICANS GAIN ASSEMBLYMEN IN UP-STATE DISTRICTS

Democratic Majority Cut Down by 14, According to Early Figures.

Returns from 52 Assembly Districts outside of Greater New York show the election of 37 Republicans and 15 Democrats. This is a net gain of 11 for the Republicans.

BUFFALO, Nov. 7.—The Republicans gain three Assembly Districts in Erie County. First, Charles C. Page, Republican; Second, Clinton T. Horton, Republican; Third, Henry J. Rahl, Republican; Fourth, Edward D. Jackson, Democrat, re-elected; Fifth, Richard F. Horn, Democrat, re-elected; Sixth, James M. Rogan, Republican; Seventh, doubtful; Eighth, Clarence MacGregor, Republican, re-elected; Ninth, Frank B. Thorne, Republican, re-elected.

The Republicans made practically a clean sweep in Buffalo and Erie County to-day. The principal candidates on the city ticket were elected by pluralities ranging from 3,000 to 10,000. In the Upper House all five Republican candidates were elected, and in the Board of Aldermen the result is: Republicans, 18; Democrats, 6—a Republican gain of five.

ALBANY, Nov. 7.—Harold J. Hinman, Republican, was re-elected in the First Assembly District of Albany County. ITHACA, Nov. 7.—Early returns indicate that in Tompkins County Dr. Minor McDaniel, Democrat, is elected to the Assembly from Tompkins County by about 500 plurality.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Calish H. Bauman (Rep.), re-elected to Assembly in the First District of Orange County. LYONS, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Albert Yoe-
